This book not only articulates a tradition-specific Pentecostal rationality of Biblical Pragmatism, but also provides the first intellectual history of a major British classical Pentecostal denomination: the Elim Pentecostal Church. Pentecostal theologians increasingly acknowledge that their theological methodology should be informed by a Pentecostal rationality, epistemology and theological hermeneutics. Simo Frestadius offers such a Pentecostal rationality from a Foursquare perspective. Frestadius first analyses and evaluates some of the main contemporary Pentecostal rationalities and epistemologies to date, with a particular emphasis on the works of Amos Yong and James K.A. Smith and L. William Oliverio Jr., before proposing that Alasdair MacIntyre's tradition-focused and historically-minded narrative approach is conducive in providing a more tradition-constituted Pentecostal rationality. Utilising the methodological insights of MacIntyre, the book then provides a philosophically informed historical narrative of a major British Pentecostal tradition, namely, the Elim Foursquare Gospel Alliance, by exploring its underlying context and roots as a classical Pentecostal movement, its emergence as a religious tradition, and its two major 'epistemological crises'. Based on this historical narration and analysis, it is argued that Elim's tacit Pentecostal rationality is best defined as Pentecostal Biblical Pragmatism in a Foursquare Gospel framework. This form of rationality is then developed vis-à-vis Elim's Pentecostal concept of truth, biblical hermeneutics, and pragmatic epistemic justification in dialogue with William P. Alston. In doing the above, the book not only articulates a tradition-specific Pentecostal rationality of Biblical Pragmatism but also

Excerpt from Lancashire Nonconformity, or Sketches, Historical and Descriptive, of the Congregational and Old Presbyterian Churches in the County, Vol. 6: The Churches of Southport, Liverpool, and the Isle of Man Several ms. Volumes of the late Dr. Raf?es, who himself intended to write a history of Lancashire Nonconformity, came into my hands when this concluding volume was in type. I regret that I had not the advantage of them earlier. They are, however, too valuable to remain unpublished, and I have interrupted the story in one or two places to find room for considerable extracts, making large use of them also in the shape of notes. The reader will pardon the digressions because of the interesting informa tion they supply, whilst some further justification for their insertion may be found in the fact that this is the concluding and in some measure supplementary volume of Lancashire Nonconformity. Only a part of the Liverpool District of the Lancashire Congregational Union is covered by this volume, and it may be said to present unto us Congregationalism in the watering places. The picture is full of inspiration. The growth of these watering places during the present century has been quite phenomenal, and Congregationalism has not been behind in providing for their religious requirements. It is not the least respectable, vigorous, and aggressive form of Free Church life which is at work in our seaside resorts where multitudes of weary toilers Spend a good share of each year.
